THE BUYER'S GUIDE, No. 34, Fall and Winter, 1883.
I have noticed that when a horse gets up he gets up forward first and jerks his hind parts after him, while a cow will get her rear half up all right and draw her forward half up in place; also, when driving, a horse will draw in water rapidly with every breath; the cow, or the contrary, will suck in one continuous draught as long as she can hold her breath.

I have noticed that sheep and goat are both butters, yet a sheep has to run a few steps backward before he can cut, while the goat has to raise himself on his hind legs to execute the same movement. One is called a buck sheep, the other a battering ram. They are the only two animals I know of whose butt ends are in front.

A squirrel can run down a tree head first. The cat and the bear must get down tail first (if left to themselves).

If your dog finds his way into your cellar and sees a nice steak he will steal it and run out, but if your cat gets in and finds a steak, she will sit right down by it and eat what she wants (if not surprised before).

I have noticed that a leather strap buckled about the height of yourself around a young tree in a few years will be away beyond your reach, but if nailed at the same distance will never get any higher (only the outer shell runs up).

Although turkeys are much more swift of foot than geese, yet in a week's drive a flock of geese will come in ahead; for geese you can drive at night, especially moonlight, but when evening approaches turkeys will roost.

A man can stand on one foot in the middle of a room and pull on his shoe, while a woman must lean up against something to accomplish the same thing.
A man holds the needle in his left hand to thread it, but a woman holds it in her right.

In one thing I think every one will agree with me: Dress a man as a woman dresses and you will freeze him to death.

TO READ A NEWSPAPER.
The wife of a well-known journalist once said that she could always pick out a trained journalist in a public place by the manner in which he held and turned his newspaper. It is surprising how many people think they must hold out two extended pages at once, with their fists in the faces of their neighbors, and with the paper scraping their ears and eyes. Any man of sense can fold one page in half lengthwise, turning it from right to left as he wishes a new leaf, and where pages need cutting a pencil latterly managed does the work in seconds. The owner of the paper can do comfortably and easily hold his paper in a double-folded shape.

EXCHANGE SCINTILLATIONS.
Why is the upstairs in a theatre like a female boarding school? Because each of them is a gold-digger. P.
S. This joke can be explained—N.
W. H. in Clarksville Democrat.

Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge makes $4,000 a year by her pen. A man in Cincinnati, who hasn't enough education to write doggerel poetry, makes a cool million from his pen, but it's a hog pen.—Danville Tribune.

If bold Ben Harrison, of Indiana can spare the time from doing picket duty over the American flag, he could profitably utilize some of his money in protecting the grave of his illustrious grandfather from the degradations of vagrant cows and dogs.
—Breckinridge News.

The Mother Hubbard must go. If Mother Hubbard does not step in and redeem her old clothes and place them on the retired list, there is going to be trouble at Hot Springs, Saratoga, Long Branch, Skowhegan and Kalamazoo. Turn the Mother Hubbard out! As a balloon, it is all right, and, enroute, but as a dress, it is a back-stitched, puffed and ruffled failure, and a withering reproach to the boasted culture of the nineteenth century.—Licking Valley Scorch.

Frank James was brought into court at Gallatin Monday, and Hamilton, the county attorney, made a motion to dismiss the case against the prisoner for the murder of Westfall, to continue the case against him for the murder of Captain Sheets, and that the prisoner be turned over to Marshal Murphy and taken back to Independence Jail. So said, so done. The court so decided it, and Marshal Murphy took charge of his prisoner. When the case for murder of Sheets will be tried is not yet known, nor where. But it is not probable that it will be tried in Gallatin.—Marshall (Mo) Progress.

PLEASANTRIES.

A SERENADE ought to be set in a night key.
A DIMER novel is of course in ten-cent station.
When a business is "run down" it is time to have it "wound up." The vegetarian's diminutive pleasantry —"It's rare that I eat meat."
"Hear's your ring," said the bell to the belle, and the wedding went on.
At the Hub—"I am tired," said the wheel. "Poor fellow," spoke the axle, waggon his tongue.

"Fortune knocks once at every man's door," but misfortune stalks in many times without knocking.
PATTY is thirty-nine years old, and has been just that old so long she is used to it—and it doesn't worry her a cent's worth.

A LITTLE girl being asked what she was doing with her doll, replied that she was making her an angel and was about to sew on wings.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God." Nothing is said about an honest woman, because she isn't such an astounding variety.

WHAT can make more vocal noise than a boy driving ten cows through a town?
Why, a boy driving two cows, of course.
The more cows the less noise.

"How old are you?" said an ancient dame to a grinning little fat-pot. "Well, if I go by what mudler says, I am most 10, but if I go by de fun I've had, I've most 100."

ONE of the leading dailies of Chicago has resolved not to notice base-ball games hereafter. It wants all its space for reports of divorce cases.—Norristown Herald.

DEACON JONES was happy, indeed, when he was told that his daughters, dear girls, had gone to the revival.
Their mother didn't tell him that it was a revival of "Pianoforte."—Boston Transcript.

A UTRIC clergyman had occasion to refer in a sermon to the prophet Jonah, and the report says that he delicately spoke of him as having "passed three days and three nights in the whale'sstomach—society."

A TURKEY was shut up in a cellar in Clarke, Va., and lived five weeks without food or water. It is said that the turkey was forgotten, but we are inclined to think that it really was the turkeys are fattened for the city market.

As a young ladies' seminary recently faring an examination in history, one of the pupils was interrogated thus:
"Mary, did Martin Luther die a natural death?" "No," was the reply, "he was excommunicated by a bull."—Harvard Lampoon.

FURNACE won't lie, maybe, but you can't bet on the breadth of a man's shoulders or the girth of a woman's—has—chest by a measure outside the dress or corset. Oh, no, they won't lie, figures won't.
But a Newark cashier can make them dissemble a little.

A TURKISH boy asked mamma the following question, to which all mamma's answers are noted: "Mamma, if a bear should swallow me I would die, wouldn't I?" "Yes, dear." "And would I go to heaven?" "Yes, dear."
"And would the bear have to go too?"

THE USE OF THE BEAUTIFUL.
When fa is the soulful moonbeam Upon the lady's eye,
And thus the lady's eye Their serene countenance,
The suffering aesthetic,
His utterance forgot, Hurts madly through the midnight air If a too-soon snuff-box pot.

PIER. BIZZAZZINO, of Turin, has dis- covered a new and important constituent of the blood, which he calls "blint plattchen." They are lenticular bodies aggregated around the colorless corpuscles. It is enough to make a man sit down and cry with mortification to think that he has to go around with things like that in his blood, and no way of getting them out.—Harrogate.

Driven off by Bees.
"The little busy bee" was once used in a naval fight in the Mediterranean.
A small vessel, which was suspected of belonging to pirates, was chased by a Turkish man-of-war, on board of which were 500 seamen and soldiers. As soon as the man-of-war came up to the privateer, several hundred men were sent in small boats to take possession of her.
When the small boats got alongside the privateer, the latter's crew mounted the rigging, taking with them a dozen hives of bees, which they had stolen to sell on the Italian coast. At the word of command the bees were thrown into the boats among the Turks. The terrible time that followed was beyond description. Some of the soldiers jumped onboard to escape the furious insects, and in the excitement the privateer escaped. The scene was witnessed from the deck of an approaching English ship, which picked up two of the Turkish boats.

GLACE BEFORE MEAT.
In the good old times it would have been considered a breach of good breeding, if not open sin, to have sat down to a meal without returning thanks.
But times have now so greatly changed that the religious rite referred to is much more honored in the breach than in the observance. The change which has within the last half century or so taken place in the boarding system, in houses as well as restaurants, has diminished about something to do with bringing about a change, as in a promised company it would provoke ridiculous to ask a blessing on the visual on the table, more especially in a saloon.—Brooklyn Eagle.

VILLAGES IN CHINA.

Villages, not badly built by any means, occur at intervals of a mile or more apart all along the roads of China.
Very good brick—much about the same size, shape and material as those made in this country—compose the walls of the better houses, while for the poorer order of edifices mud is used. The brick walls in China are excellent—better than the cheap brick walls in America, and but little inferior to our best preserved brick. When villages are constructed of mud there is a striking resemblance to the villages of Egypt. The houses have no outside windows and but one opening, which is the door. The openings for lights are upon inner courts or back yards, and are without glass. The eaves are made to project, so as to keep out the rain, and in doing so exclude much light as well. Blinds made of slats are sometimes used, and thin, light paper pasted over the slats serve to keep out some of the cold air and let in a little light. The houses are invariably our story high, and at the bottom of this custom is a superstition that higher houses would interfere with the spirits of the air ("Fung Chui") and offend them, thus bringing disaster upon the house or village. In front of each door, and at a distance of eight or ten feet, stands a detached wall, fifteen feet long and as high as the eaves of the house, concealing the door from any person standing in front of it. This is for the purpose of defending the house and family from the malignant "Fung Chui" or spirits, which are popularly believed to fly only in straight lines and to be incapable of turning a corner. It follows that when traversing the air in search of a certain house when they come in contact with the wall they are thrown off at an angle, and thus baffled of their purpose, and fly in a tangent through unfinite space and are lost. A Chinese village has but little in common with those of this country either in detail or in general appearance. While the villages of America, copied from English prototypes, are peculiar from their distinct and separate build, with gardens and grass plots, those of China are compact, huddled together, and present from a distance the aspect of a mere dead wall. One peculiar aspect of all Chinese cities and villages is the absence of all steeples, spires or pinnacles of any kind. While Mohammedan countries have the mosque, with its flashing domes and graceful minarets, and European and American centers of population are marked by lofty towers and spires, China is almost absolutely without any of these striking architectural points. The result is great monotony and dullness of aspect.

MALE POCKETS.
The full-dressed male animal abounds in pockets; he has coat pockets, vest pockets, and pants pockets; breast pockets, side pockets, hind pockets, hip pockets in the overcoat, his slipster and his rubber overalls; never less than sixteen to twenty of these economical hiding places for lots of articles—cash in loose change, cash in bills, hav-ers' briefs, sermons, tradesmen's accounts, doctors' prescriptions, architects' drawings, tax-gatherers' blank books of all sorts and sizes, enough to stock a book-seller's stall or a merchant's counting-room. All kinds of pocket articles are enumerated and defined in the dictionary—pocket comb, pocket compass, pocket pistol, pocket money, pocket knife, pocket glass, pocket volumes, pocket inkstand, pen, pencil and the like.
A school-boy's pockets are a curiosity; a repository for nails, balls, jack-knives, gingerbread and apple cores, fishing worms and angle-worms, and as he grows older, billets from the girls, "excuses" from his mother and extra problems from his teacher. A female eccentric of some celebrity said "the only thing for which she envied a man was his multitude of pockets."

Love is not love which alters when iteration it finds.

In addition to these, twenty-five other premiums, worth $1 each, will be added, making the list aggregate over $500 worth of valuable articles which will be given away to our patrons.

The plan of distribution will be similar to that followed heretofore.
The price of the SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN is uniformly
"$2.00 a year, cash in advance, and stop when out." Now is your opportunity to get a paper worth double the price charged and a chance for each and every one of the valuable premiums mentioned above.

Subscriptions sent by mail will receive prompt attention and receipts and tickets will be forwarded upon receipt of the subscription price.
